Kia ora koutou,

Welcome to Week 4 on The Terrace.

I send this newsletter with some sadness as in my time in education, I have only been asked to strike twice. As I said 2 weeks ago, this doesn't sit well with me but I am doing it because I believe unless we make a stand for education we will indeed see negative outcomes for children in the future.

Thanks Room 15 For Your Assembly Last Week

Last week, Room 15 shared their learning with us. It was wonderful to see their learning around Hatupatu and the Birdwoman and to see the way they decided to share a story. I also loved the science experiment and the way this was completed and displayed using digital technology so we could all share in the learning. Well done Room 15.

I enjoyed presenting the Principal's Awards to the following tamariki who continue doing wonderful things here on The Terrace;

Sam Peter: You have been working really hard with letters, sounds and now words which you are beginning to use in your writing! You are respectful and kind to all, always doing the right thing- a great friend and role model. Keep doing what you're doing Sam, you are amazing!

Leo English: You have worked so hard and you are flying with your learning. You are kind and so helpful to everyone in the classroom. Keep up all of your amazing work.

Max Wallace: Max, you are such a valued member of our class. Thank you for making sure that your peers always feel included and supported. Your sense of humour, willingness to help and kind nature mean you're a great role model to all students. Ka pai to mahi!

Max Barker: Max, you have made remarkable progress in all areas during 2017 and 2018. Your story about 'The Top Of The Beanstalk' was one of the best crafted stories you have ever written. Keep up the great work.

Eddie Glasgow: You are a keen learner and a kind, helpful classmate. You have made super progress so far this year, especially with your maths and writing.

Benjamin McDonald: Benjamin your keen enthusiasm and motivation for learning is fantastic! You have been working particularly hard in your maths lately and it shows. It is wonderful to have you in Room 10 this year and I look forward to seeing all that you achieve. Keep up the great work! Kei Runga Noa Atu!

Cleo King-Turner: It's a joy to have someone in my room who I can always rely on to be doing the right thing. At all times you step up to new challenges and give your best effort. You have a flair for oral presentations and entertain us all with your T.V presentations. He whakamataku koe!

Laura Tremblay: Laura you are an extremely hard working, dedicated student. You always strive for the best and have a great passion for learning. I love how enthusiastic you are with all learning tasks as well as your many fantastic extra curricular activities! Well done!

Zsalea Moses: You bring a sunny smile to school every day. You are a wonderful helper in the class. You are passionate about birds and insects and confidently share your knowledge. We love having you in Room 12. Tino pai!

Kayan Pou: For being an awesome friend and helper in room thirteen - tino pai!

Ceana Renwick: Calm and creative are good words to describe you Ceana. You are supportive and encouraging towards your classmates and nurturing towards the younger kids in the school. You are a special member of Room 14. Ka pai Ceana.

Hannah Thomas: Hannah you always give your very best to everything you do. I'm loving seeing your confidence grow and sharing a joke or two with you. Stand tall Hannah, you are AWESOME.

Te mihi ki nga tamariki mo to akoranga me to maatau mahi. Congratulations children on your learning and hard work. We love seeing you livin' the vision.

Peter Blake Award Congratulations Mackenzie Charleton

Last Friday at assembly, Mackenzie received the peter Blake Award. She is a wonderful role model in our school. Mackenzie, extremely reliable when given a job, has all the attributes needed when working in a team, and puts her hand up for everything and anything. However, her most outstanding attribute is how she works with special need children. She has supported several students with special needs doing so with compassion, commitment and spirit. Well done Mackenzie. This award is thoroughly deserved.

Do You Feel Like Throwing Rob Out Of a Plane?

Vick has lots of good ideas. Her latest is to throw me out of a plane. Although no one has actually mentioned a parachute, I am assuming that there will be one attached on the day. However, one thing I have learned in life is to never assume! The Cancer Society and Skydive Abel Tasman are raising funds for this very worthwhile cause. Skydive Abel Tasman have said that if we can raise $1500 they'll throw me out. So come on, why not take the opportunity to raise some money and make Vick's day! Visit our Facebook page to contribute. Thanks.

Homework Survey

Last week I sent out a survey regarding homework. Thanks to those of you who have already responded. The results are interesting. If you haven't completed it yet, please do by following the link <https://goo.gl/forms/FsK8v48a0WSiO6Mf2>

Saturday Raffle Helpers

I would like to acknowledge the children who helped in the selling of raffle tickets 2 weeks ago at the 4 Square Supermarket. Their efforts alone raised $540.00 for the school. They were awesome, especially Paddy Woon who was there for over two hours and simply wasn't taking no for an answer. Thanks Paddy Woon, Anzac Jamieson, Lucy Daughtrey, Sam Daughtrey and Maddy Kelly. We love your commitment.

CTS Quiz Night Donations

The quiz night is this Friday. Thanks Home and School for once again doing amazing things so that our children are well catered for.

Congratulations

Joelle's team have come third at both competitions so far. Joelle's speciality stunt group came first at the competition recently and she got another gold for partner stunt. The next comp is 24 - 27 August and India will be competing too so we are hoping to bring home more medals for Room 10. Well done and good luck. Congratulations also to the FC Monarch Girls football team who won their league this season. Congratulations to India, Sophie, Sylvie and Jazmyn who play in the team.

Have a great week. Remember the door is 'nearly' always open for a chat!
